

Notable local talent on show at Art Salon

Arts writer

"THE PAST two decades have seen an enormous shift in South African art, with our local artworks becoming more internationalised and our artists taking their rightful place on a world stage," says independent art dealer and consultant, Rose Korber. Celebrating her 20th annual Art Salon, Korber will be exhibiting works by many of these artists at Rose Korber Art in Sedgemoor Road, Camps Bay, until January 31.

Among the artists exhibiting at the Art Salon and who are regular participants at international biennales, art fairs and "blockbuster" shows are William Kentridge, Marlene Dumas, Sam Nhlengethwa, Zwelethu Mthethwa and Claudette Schreuders.

Other notable names exhibiting are: Simon Stone, Robert Slingsby, Richard Smith, David Koloane, Robert Hodgins, Paul du Toit, Paul Blomkamp, JP Meyer, Deborah Bell, Diane Victor, Sanell Aggenbach, Kate Gottgens, Pamela Stretton, Penelope Stutterheime, Wendy Anziska, Kim Lieberman and Cynthia Villet. Prominent classical artists John Kramer and Erik Laubscher - whose paintings are emblematic of the South African environment and landscape - will also be well represented at the show. New painters to watch out for are Georgia Lane and Liane Dutilleux.

The photographers on show are Stephen Inggs, whose iconic landscapes and object-based images are internationally recognised; Jurgen Schadeberg, known internationally for his depictions of black life in South Africa since the 1950s; and Jenny Altschuler, known in her field of figurative photography.

REGULAR: William Kentridge's Floral Dress is part of Rose Korber's 20th annual Art Salon.

Sculptors of note include Kevin Brand, Willie Bester, Jaco Sieberhagen, Naomi Press and Anthony Lane.

Among the leading ceramic artists exhibiting are Ian Garrett, Louise Gelderblom, Hennie Meyer, Clementina van der Walt, Carolyn Heydenrych, Wiebke von Bismarck, Ralph Johnson, Helen Vaughan, Rae Goosens, Melanie Hillebrand, Sarah Walters, Patsy Groll, Yvonne Martin and Laura du Toit. A special feature this year will also be a large selection of works by members of the Ardmore Studio Ceramics in KwaZulu-Natal.

● Call 021 438 9152, or see www.rosekorberart.com